NUMBER 23.

PLANT STRAWBERRY BED THIS SUMMER

Continued High Prices Will Make Venture Profitable—Only Small Space Is Needed.

Home strawberry patches which furnished a surplus of berries this year have proved a profitable venture. Berries have continued uniformly high in price and there has been no difficulty to dispose of any surplus.

This is the time to increase the stock and the prospects of big prices for another year or more have turned the attention of many gardeners to the advisability of starting strawberry beds for home use. It does not take a very great space to grow enough berries to furnish an average sized family with a fine supply of fresh, luscious berries and ordinarily of finer quality than can be bought in the market.

Directly after the haring season the plants send out many runners, at the tip of each a new plant is borne which will take root and start an independent career. A careful gardener can insure himself a fine crop of plants to increase his beds by seeing that these little plants at the ends of the runners find easy rooting lodgment.

Stirring the soil and covering the stem near the plant lightly assists and a very convenient way is to put up the new plant and grow them along until they have made a good root system and developed into strong plants, when they are ready to be planted out where desired.

Headlers now specializing in pot grown plants for starting beds along in August. Plant a strawberry bed this summer. It is well worth while. It is advisable to start fall beds only with potgrown plants. Otherwise the beds should be started in the spring.

They thrive in almost any soil but are at their best in a rich sandy loam or light play loam. The plants should be set not closer than a foot apart in the row and the rows three and a half feet apart.

The plants should have a covering of straw or leaves after the ground has frozen in the late fall.

One of Garrard's best farms to be sold at auction in next week's issue Thomas and Hamilton will tell the people about: Jas. Level's 250 acre Bryantville farm to be sub-divided and sold at auction on Sept. 24th. This is fine land and well improved and lays so well that it is spoken of as the Tractor Farm.

Kirksville

There will be a social at the Christian Church Thursday night from 7.30 to 11.00 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited.

Sale Canceled.

The Jess Rogers' Madison County home farm for sale advertised in this and last weeks issues is called off and indefinitely deferred.

GREAT OVATION Given To Congressman Barkley Last Monday—Campaign Opens In Earnest.

One of the greatest Democratic speeches ever expounded to the people of Garrard county was that of Congressman Alton W. Barkley, when he spoke at the court house here last Monday afternoon, to a house that taxed the capacity of the building, many standing in the aisles throughout the entire two hours consumed in its delivery.

That he made a wonderful impression, was evidenced by the prolonged applause that interrupted him several times during the afternoon.

Congressman Barkley was introduced by J. E. Robinson, chairman of the Democratic County Committee. The outstanding feature of the occasion was the two-hundred or more women that were present. The center aisle of the auditorium had been reserved for them but it proved not to be enough space and chairs were placed in each aisle for their accommodation.

Mr. Barkley's tribute to Woodrow Wilson induced an outburst of applause that lasted for several minutes.

"Jefferson and Jackson and Lincoln were vilified, declared the Congressman. "Monuments were erected to them and pilgrim trips made to their graves. Woodrow Wilson will likewise go down as one of the greatest figures of history, while his slanders will be forgotten."

Mr. Barkley made a plea to the women present to vote in November for "an honorable peace."

Gov. Cox has said that the League of Nations is the chief issue," the speaker said. "Senator Harding has tried to drag in the corpse of the tariff. But neither was correct. Your distinguished governor, Mr. Morrow, has found that the real issue is getting the Democrats out and the Republicans in."

Some of The High Points Touched.

"I ask you mothers as well as fathers, whether it would not pay to join the League of Nations, if it would but keep your boys out of even just one frightful war?"

"The Democratic slogan is something like this: 'Equality to all, special privilege to none.'"

"The spirit of true Democracy was never more exemplified than in the principles for which the party is fighting this year."

"America did not fight for territorial rights. America fought for civilization—let's keep it, and assure it while we have the opportunity."

"Harding says the tariff question is the paramount issue of this campaign. The Republicans have been promising every four years for the past fifty to revise it—and what did they do?"

"They say wages are the highest ever known and it is unsafe. Do you want the old, old wage and way of living, and are there any bank failures now?"

"There are men and women too, now who have bank accounts who did not have energy enough a few years ago to have anything, even a aimable disposition. They are independent. Do you want to continue to be independent?"

For Sale Privately

Life's Close For R. L. Walker.

Although an invalid for the past eleven years and during that time had suffered intensely, the death of Mr. R. L. Walker last Tuesday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. James Burnside, in Richmond, was a distinct shock to his numerous friends here and in adjoining counties.

He was taken desperately ill last Friday, and while everything was done to relieve him, it was of no avail and he passed into the great beyond.

"Bake" Walker was one of the cleverest boys that ever lived and on account of the intense suffering through which he has passed during the last ten years or more, we feel that death must have been a relief to him.

For the past year or more he has made his home here, being a brother of Mrs. Ben Hudson and Mrs. Owen Rigney. He was also a brother of Mr. J. B. Walker of Richmond, Mrs. H. D. Geiger of Huntington, W. Va., Jennie Cotton of Cedar Springs, N. C. He leaves no immediate family, his wife, who was formerly a Miss Steele, of Jessamine, preceding him in death several years ago.

Mr. Walker was a devout member of the Presbyterian church. His remains were brought to Lancaster, Wednesday afternoon and taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rigney at which place the funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at three o'clock by his former pastor, Rev. J. J. Martin, of Nicholasville. By his own request his remains will be buried in the Lancaster Cemetery.

County Attorney Is Sued For Divorce and Alimony.

Covington, Ky.—Difference in religious belief is set forth as ground for action in a divorce suit filed in the Circuit Court by Eliza B. Hill against Thomas J. Hill, County Attorney of Lincoln County, Ky. Mrs. Hill says her husband sought to have her renounce the Catholic faith, as he is a Protestant. Mrs. Hill also charges cruelty. She seeks an absolute divorce, alimony and custody of their child. Mrs. Hill declares her husband earns $2,500 yearly as a public official and from his practice. She asserts he owns a $10,000 estate. Another order to restrain the defendant's father, Thomas J. Hill, Sr., from paying her husband a considerable sum of money, which he is alleged to owe him. The Hills were married October 10 1914 at Stanford. Mrs. Hill says she was compelled to leave the defendant two months ago and now is living in Covington.

Fine Boyle Farm To Sell.

The I. M. Dunn Real Estate Agency, of Danville is carrying several large advertisements in this issue of the Record, announcing the sale of some valuable farms in Boyle County, chief among them being the Van Sickle farm of several hundred acres, and said by knowing ones to be the best in the county. Read these advertisements and don't fail to attend these sales.

Vigorous War Fails On Tobacco Diseases

Lexington, Ky.—General rains in the Blue Grass recently cost dollars, according to Dr. W. D. Valleau of the Kentucky Experiment Station, who is in charge of the campaign against "wildfire" and "rust," the plant diseases causing considerable damage in Kentucky.

The infections are spreading rapidly in all sections around Lexington, despite efforts to check their ravages. An epidemic of "wildfire" had broken out in Christian and McLean counties in Western Kentucky, according to reports received at the experiment station recently.

Champion Tomato.

Mr. J. F. Holtzclaw is the champion tomato raiser in the city. He has brought one to this office that weighs exactly 2½ pounds and has more just as good. It is the "Colossal" variety and well worthy of its name.

Fine Peaches.

Our good friend, Mr. Dan East, who usually has the best of everything brought us some of the finest peaches last Monday. We have seen this year. They were of the Alberta variety, and as good as one ever stuck his tooth in.

U. G. RAINS

Death Was Shock To Friends.

Mr. U. G. Rains, prominent merchant and business man at Point Leavelle died at his home last Friday morning, death resulting from an accident he received, two days before while unloading coal from a car on the switch at this place. In some manner he fell from the car, resulting in internal injuries, from which he could get no relief.

He is survived by his wife and three children. He was about forty years of age and had been married about eight years.

He was a member of the Baptist Church, the funeral services being conducted at the house last Saturday afternoon by Rev. Holder, after which interment took place in the Lancaster cemetery.

Daughter Sues Mother; Gets Slander Verdict

Mrs. Elizabeth Hillman was given a verdict for $2,000 against her mother, Mrs. Bettie Broadus, in the circuit court at Stanford. She sued for $20,000, charging that her mother had slandered her. The mother is a sister of the late Colonel A. M. Swope, of Lexington, and an aunt of Congressman King Swope.

How To Cook Corn To Keep Sweetness.

Too many cooks spoil the broth and too much cooking spoils the corn.

Culinary science is constantly upsetting old theories in the cooking line and leading to better, easier and speedier results.

For instance, did you know that five minutes' cooking is enough for sweet corn and that its flavor will be at its best with this short cooking? That's against all the old-time cooks' mode of procedure and our grandmothers would insist the corn would come on the table raw. It won't.

The water should be boiling and waiting for the corn. The corn should be fresh picked, not over three hours off the stalk at the very most if its sweetness is to be preserved.

Husk and silk the corn, drop it in to the boiling water and let it boil for five minutes, counting the boiling time from the time the water resumes its ebullition after being temporarily checked by the cool ears of corn. Experts in domestic science say ten minutes of boiling is the maximum and that a half hour of boiling or more takes away part of the sweetness. With fresh picked corn, boiled not over ten minutes, the diner will have the sweetest sweet corn he ever tackled.

Right now is the time to prepare for quality corn and a few little tricks in the garden will show returns in the size of the cob and the fullness of the kernels. If the patch is small it can be given intensive culture that is impossible in big patches, but it is the way to get quality corn.

A light sprinkling of nitrate of is about a foot high, a teaspoon full to about five feet of row, raked in, gives the corn a sprint. Don't get the nitrate on the leaves or against the stalks.

Later, when the corn is about ready to hill up to allow the auxiliary roots to take hold, bone meal hoed in with the hills gives more food that will give quality ears. After that it can take care of itself.

Ramsey

Friends of Mr. J. W. Ramsey, Sr., of Washington, Ind., many years ago a resident of this city, will be grieved to learn of the death of his only son, James Ramsey Jr., which occurred at his home in Washington last week.

Mr. Ramsey became suddenly ill three weeks ago when he was found unconscious in his home, 211 North-east Ninth street, following an attack of cerebral hemorrhage. His condition seemed to improve until Sunday, when meningitis developed. After that, he sank rapidly to his death.

He was the last of four boys and one girl; was 45 years of age and the idol of his fond and devoted parents, who are heart broken over the passing away of their dearest and only son.

Card Of Thanks

We are deeply grateful to all our friends and neighbors who extended us so much help and sympathy during the illness and after the death of our husband and father.

Mrs. Rains and family.

CIRCUIT COURT

Convened Here Last Monday—Docket Light.

With a light docket ahead, the Aug. term of the Garrard Circuit Court convened here Monday morning, with Judge Hardin on the bench and Hon. Emmet Puryear and County Attorney Green Clay Walker looking after the interests of the Commonwealth.

Judge Hardin a little delayed, gave short impressive instructions to the grand-jury, which was sworn in a few minutes after court convened, only a few asking to be excused and those only on account of physical disabilities or sickness in the family.

After the selection of the petit jury, court was adjourned until Tuesday morning, when the regular grind began and a number of cases were disposed of in rapid succession.

The first case called was the Commonwealth vs Sowler for breach of the peace and he was fined $20, and costs; same against Bill Turner, for same offense, drew a verdict of $100, and costs; same vs. same, carrying concealed a deadly weapon, got a $50 fine and ten days. Another case against Turner was dismissed.

Commonwealth vs Anderson Hall, for assault and battery, the jury fined him $50 and costs. Hall was accused of whipping too severely, one of his pupils at the Harmony Lick school house last August.

Hiram Wylie indicted for seduction, the defendant being Pearl Humphrey, on motion the Commonwealth the case was filed away with leave to re-instate. Wylie agreeing and did marry the defendant in court.

Bryan Sanford charged with the same offense, the defendant being Stella Walker, was dismissed, the couple having married. The case of Wm. Dismukes charged with killing Wm. Mason near Buena Vista, was called for today.

The following constitute the juries who will serve this court:

Petit Jury.

Ben A. Dunn, R. D. McNulty, M. Burdett Ramsey, W. H. Beazley, L. Noe, Henry A. Moore, H. L. Thompson, S. A. Ballard, Walker Logan, A. T. Howling, Wm. Blanks, D. N. Long, Joe Aldridge, L. E. Brown, Kirby Teater, Wm. Raney, Price Huffman, I. B. Duncan, S. L. Gibbs Walker Center, H. C. Sutton, R. V. Anderson, W. R. Kelley and Talton May.

Grand Jury

S. S. Long, Price Bourne, Floyd Humphrey, Ed Grow, D. D. Collitt, J. L. Tribble, Floyd Curtis, Arine Naylor, W. K. Davis, Zack Hester, G. B. Todd and G. H. Lane.

Hop Club

Gives Barge Dance.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season, was the barge dance given by the members of the Lancaster Hop Club on the Kentucky river last Tuesday night. Nearly two hundred guests accepted the invitations of the club and most delightful occasion it proved to have been.

The party embarked at Camp Nelson going down the river for several miles, although the heavy fog of the evening prevented them from going down as far as they had previously planned.

Montague's band of Lexington provided the music, and knowing ones say it is equal in every way to Smith's band which has played for the boys on several previous occasions.

Lunch was served on the boat, which was most inviting and eagerly devoured by the guests. The Lancaster boys are being congratulated upon the delightful entertainment and many are pleased that the Lancaster Hop Club has been revived, its members composing of about thirty-five of the finest young men of the town.

Among those who attended from here were: Misses Minnie Mae Robinson, Katie Barnes Dickerson, Bernice Champ, Ruth Carrier and Miss Mona Saunders, of Lexington, who is Miss Carrier's charming visitor, Miss Margaret Pickelton and Miss Moody Adney, of Crab Orchard. Among the chaperones were: Miss Sue Shelby Mason, Mr. W. M. Nicholls, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Pickelton, of Crab Orchard.

Aeroplane Here.

An aeroplane, piloted and owned by Mr. O. W. Pearson, of Troy, Ohio, has been here for several days and has reaped quite a harvest, by taking passengers through the aerial regions at $1.00 per minute, the minimum time being fifteen minutes. The landing field is on the Shirley Hudson farm on the Stanford pike.

SHINERS' MEET TO BE BIG AFFAIR

Preparations Being Made For Entertainment of Visitors In The City.

Illustrious Potentate M. D. Royle, of Winchester, is receiving practically each day a number of names for persons from other lodges who will be in Winchester for the Shiners' ceremonial, which will be held on Labor Day.

The number of candidates has increased wonderfully and other applications are being received daily and from present indications the class which will tread the "hot sands" on this occasion will be one of the largest in Central Kentucky.

All Novices, according to the program, will be required to meet at the Fraternity building in the morning not later than 10 o'clock and finally place their applications. Lunch will be served to the Novices at noon at the Fraternity building. The parade will form in front of the Fraternity building at 1:30 o'clock for the march to the Caravan of Mecca, where the degree will be conferred. At 6 P. M. a banquet will be served by the ladies of the First Methodist Church at the church building on South Main Street to all Nobles and their ladies. A reception and dance will be given at 8 p. m. All visiting members of the lodge are extended a cordial invitation to be present for the ceremonial and other entertainments which will be offered.

Large circulars have been mailed to all members of the Oleika Temple inviting them to be present for the ceremonial and to bring their brother members with them.

DRASTIC RULE

Teachers in Public Schools Must Attend Each Session Of The Institute or Certificates Will Be Revoked.

Teachers in the public schools of Garrard county should watch their step, otherwise their certificates will be revoked and they will be barred from teaching.

According to the ruling which has just been received by Supt. Miss Jennie Higgins, all public schools and high school teachers must attend every session of the Institute otherwise their certificates are automatically revoked and the said teachers prohibited from teaching in any public school in Kentucky. Heretofore, teachers have been in the habit of missing about half of the sessions of the Institute.

The Boyle and Garrard County Institutes will be held in joint session in the chapel of the Danville High School building beginning September 6th. Prof. Joseph has been engaged as conductor.

According to the interpretation of the new law a diploma from Junior colleges of which the Kentucky College for Women is one, does not entitle the holder to teach in any public school of the state without taking the examination and securing a certificate. Graduates of Centre College, full four years, are entitled to teach in public schools without the examination.

Deserter Arrested

Homer Pigg, of this county and son of Mrs. Bettie Pigg, was arrested here last Saturday by Sheriff A. K. Walker, charged with being a deserter from the United States Army. Authorities from Camp Taylor, from which place it is alleged, he deserted, have been notified. In the meantime Mr. Pigg is a prisoner in the county jail.

Big Hog Sale.

This office is now getting out for Messrs Sanders and Amos a large catalogue, announcing their Poland hog sale, which is to take place in Lancaster, on Saturday, September 11th.

This will be a big event in Lancaster and will attract many from a distance to the sale. Watch for their advertisement in the next issue of this paper.

Farm For Sale Privately.

The Mrs. Sallie Sanders farm of 106 acres located in the Sandstone belt near the Poor-house farm, a good new three room house and two good tobacco barns, and land that will grow the best of tobacco. Look this farm over, it is the kind that will pay for itself in a few years. See Clayton Marsee on the farm or G. C. Walker, Lancaster, Ky. (8-26-3t.)

AUTUMN IS CLEARING TIME FOR FARM LAND

Convert All Waste Places Into Revenue Producers.

Goats, Sheep or Cattle Are Favored in Order Named for Keeping Down Sprout Growth—Methods for Removing Stumps.

The fair-weather days of the autumn afford the farmer an opportunity to undertake the clearing of land for which he has no time in the busy summer months, and which can not be done while the land is wet in the spring. Ten thousands of farms there are cut-over tracts which should be converted into revenue producers as soon as possible. If the owner decides that the land in question is better suited to crop production than to forest growth, a careful study of the most economical method of removing stumps and small growth should be made. Most cut-over land passes through three stages before reaching its greatest agricultural value. The waste and small growth is disposed of first, then it is allowed to remain in stumps for a few seasons, until the smaller stumps are dead and decayed, during which time it is used for pasture or may be cultivated. Finally, all the stumps are removed.

Generally it is best to cut brush as close as possible to the ground and avoid leaving sharp points that might injure stock. However, if the wood is of no value and the ground is not to be cultivated before the stumps are removed, it may be best to cut the trees rather high above the ground. If the stumps are left three feet high there will be less sprouting than if cut low down, and such stumps are more easily pulled.

The most successful method of keeping down sprout growth is by heavy pasturing by goats, sheep, or cattle in the order named. Any sprouts not killed by pasturing should be cut or knocked off with the head of an ax.

There are a great variety of methods used in removing stumps. By means of burning, pulling and dynamite. Farmers' Bulletin 374, "Clearing Land," prepared by the United States department of agriculture, contains information designed especially for persons interested in this subject. A copy can be had on request.

PREPARE LAND FOR ALFALFA

One of the Best Ways to Get Moisture and Well-Packed Soil is by Disking and Rolling.

Fall seeding of alfalfa requires moisture and a soil which is well packed. One of the best ways of getting such a condition is to disk the ground as soon as oats or small grain is taken off, then plow it and pack it thoroughly by harrowing or rolling. Soil which has been in a cultivated crop and removed early, such as early potatoes, makes good ground for fall seeding. On ground of this kind a thorough disking and harrowing will often put it in good shape for alfalfa. On many of our types of soil alfalfa will do better if limestone is applied. This limestone should be applied after the ground has been plowed and then harrowed in to give best results.

SWINE FOR WINTER MARKETS

Tamptation to Fatten Quickly on Corn Alone is Liable to Cause Loss of Animals.

Hogs for the early winter markets should be carefully fed. That temptation to fatten quickly on corn alone is liable to cause the careless farmer the loss of one or more animals. A better and a safer feed is wheat middlings and wheat bran made into a thick slop. Give a feed of this just what the hogs will eat up clean twice a day, then give a moderate feed of corn.

Keep a plentiful supply of fresh, clean water in the pens. See that the trough is clean. Have clean, dry pens and yards. Fast the pens once a week with straw-strewned time.

POTATO DISEASE EXPLAINED

So-Called Blight Due to Tip-Burn or Small Insect Known as the Leaf-Hopper.

Much of the so-called potato blight which is to be found is due to what is really tip-burn, or it may be due to a small insect known as the leaf-hopper. The tip-burn is caused by the dry weather and extreme heat as the sun and wind draw the water from the plant faster than the roots can supply it from the ground. The leaf-hopper is a small, greenish-like insect, which will be found jumping from one plant to another as the plants are moved.

BORER EATS CLOVER ROOTS

Here are three life stages of one of the worst clover pests, the root borer. The root borer will attack peas as well as clover. The larvae and the beetles of the borer literally riddle the roots of the clover plant. The borer may be the trouble with that weak, "spotty" clover patch of yours. It is a little investigating.

ELIMINATE ALL POOR LAMBS

Carcasses of Improperly Finished Animals Do Not Find Ready Sale on Market.

Just why the latter part of August and early part of September invariably demoralizes the lamb market has puzzled market students for many years. A large percentage of lambs coming out of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, and Iowa are small native animals that have to be sold for what they will realize. Those lambs coming on a usually congested market sell for a marked reduction and since the consumption of lamb is limited to certain sections of the country, carcasses from these improperly finished lambs do not find a ready sale. This annual occurrence in this section not only penalizes the growers of good lambs but means a loss to the producers of the inferior kinds. Since the product is inferior it has a tendency to prejudice consumers against lamb.

Farmers in the corn belt states surrounding the Chicago market are advised by United States department of agriculture specialists to make a concerted effort to put their lambs in better market condition. It is thought certain that most of those who were responsible for this year's native lambs could have put them in much better market condition, with good profit to themselves. It is regrettable that so large a number of unboxed and uncastrated, poorly finished, scrubbed lambs fill the markets from these sections.

The man who keeps a small flock on the farm is advised to remember the importance of handling sheep wisely. The ewes should be bred early enough in the fall so that they will produce their lambs in March and April. The lambs should be docked and castrated when they are ten days old. They should receive sufficient feed to keep them growing in order that when they are ready for the market in about four months they should weigh from

Young Sheep on Pasture Being Prepared for Market.

65 to 70 pounds and carry a uniform covering of flesh. Lambs which are well bred, properly cared for, docked and castrated, and in good flesh will go onto the market at a credit to the man who has produced them and will find a ready sale.

KEEP FLIES OFF LIVE STOCK

Mixture of Laundry Soap, Water, Crude Petroleum and Naphthalin is Recommended.

The following mixture is very effective in keeping flies off live stock and its cost is very small:

One pound of common laundry soap, four gallons of warm water, one gallon of crude petroleum and four ounces of powdered naphthalin.

Shave the soap in very thin slices into warm water and stir it until thoroughly dissolved. Put the naphthalin in the crude petroleum and stir until dissolved. Pour the soap and water into the petroleum and thoroughly mix them together.

RAISING REGISTERED CATTLE

Many Farmers Hesitate to Start With Pure-Bred Animals Because of Lack of Knowledge.

Many farmers would like to raise registered cattle, but because of their lack of knowledge of pedigrees or individuality, or both, hesitate to start with pure-bred animals. A safe way to start is to buy a few bred cows or heifers and grow in experience as the herd increases in numbers.

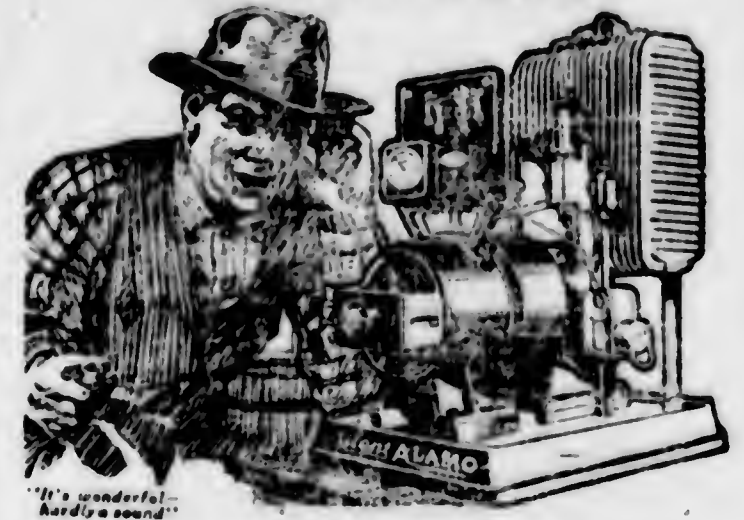

LIVE STOCK NOTES

The amount of concentrates fed can be greatly reduced if the sows have access to good pasture such as bluegrass, clover, alfalfa or rape.

Good pasture and considerable range for exercise not only lowers the cost of maintenance, but also serves to keep sows in healthy condition.

An old but correct statement that "the bull is half the herd" needs to be heeded more than ever, owing to the high prices of grain, labor and overhead expense connected with production.

Electric Light and Power For the Farm

Install the Celebrated

Silent ALAMO

Electric Light and Power Plant

Selecting an electric light and power plant is a serious proposition. You should know how to do it wisely. You know, for instance, that the engine is the most vital part of any plant and that severe vibration which racks the engine to pieces is a menace always to be avoided.

No Vibration—No Noise

The Silent Alamo has a noiseless sleeve valve motor. It is the most efficient and quietest running type of motor ever built. In addition, there is no dangerous vibration in the Silent Alamo. Thus the efficiency of the motor is maintained, and steady, reliable service assured.

See a demonstration of this remarkable plant now. Learn for yourself why it is preferred everywhere. If you cannot come in today, phone or write for a representative.

Ancient Idea of Comets.

Ancient peoples, puzzled by these awe-inspiring phenomena, proclaimed that "comets are composed of the sins of mortals, which, ascending to the sky, and so coming to the notice of God, are set on fire by his wrath." As The Editor Sees It

Hardly a week passes but what some good citizen has a suggestion to make for the betterment of this county.

No sooner is the suggestion made than some other good citizen objects—principally because he does not like the first citizen.

It is human, and we are just as human here as elsewhere.

But there is a better way—a way that is quite as human and more humanizing.

Forget your antipathy toward the man and think only of his suggestion—of what it will do for the town—of what it will mean to you as a citizen of the town.

Very few good citizens think exactly alike. Many are diametrically opposite in their convictions, in their tastes, in their likes and dislikes.

But there is a common ground upon which we may all meet and bury our animosities.

That is the common good for all—the betterment of our community—the fostering of the welfare of our collective citizenry for the benefit of each individual citizen, and for the benefit of ourselves.

It is the starting point of prosperity—the grave of adversity.

It is the point we all should seek and find.

You read the daily papers. You are keeping in touch with the foreign news—the events of the old world.

You have noticed that the much heralded peace has only partially materialized—that the fires of hatred are burning more deafening as time goes on.

Only the slender tie that binds England and France prevents another world of conflict, and that tie is perilously weak, is often near the breaking point.

The average American citizen rests securely in the belief that this country will never enter another European conflict.

But don't be too sure.

The world has had an object lesson in what America can do—if she will.

In the next war the might of American gold, products and arms will be sedulously courted by both sides.

Every act of diplomacy will be exerted to bring us in—with our men, our munitions, and our gold.

If diplomacy fails, other tactics will be pursued to force our hand.

It will be a marvel if we escape. Think it over, from all sides, and don't go to sleep.

Politicians are carefully avoiding the subject in advance of election, but they are doing a deal of thinking.

They know that we are sitting on the crater of another volcano, and the lid is uncomfortably warm.

Some day it will blow off.

And then—who knows?

Woman with her vote should make haste slowly, lest in the end she make haste at all.

Feminine suffrage was not achieved in a day, nor in a month, nor a year. It has required many years of ceaseless effort and countless disappointments to place her on a political equality with man.

She cannot expect to revolutionize our political system in a day, nor in a year. To attempt such a sweeping overthrow of the customs of years would destroy her future prestige, and therefore her usefulness.

The laudable ambition of womanhood is better government and a more enlightened citizenry. This can be accomplished gradually, but it cannot be done with a stampede.

The tortoise travels slowly, but it gets there in the end.

Methodist Church Notes

The Junior Missionary Society held an open Session at the Prayer Meeting hour last week. The exercises consisted of songs, recitations, a Missionary Pageant, and the nite-box opening by both the Junior and Baby divisions. One member of the baby division was promoted to the Junior division. Nineteen Junior nite-boxes were opened with a total of $35.95. Eleven baby nite-boxes were opened with a total of $4.71, making a grand total of $40.66. The highest amounts in these boxes were $5.28 and $5.30. Two others had $5.00 each in them. Each member deserves credit for the efforts put forth to secure this money for the Master's cause.

Next Sunday will be the last service before the meeting of the Annual Conference. Every member who can possibly do so is urged to be present at the morning service.

Baptist Church.

The B. Y. P. U. picnic last Friday was a great success. When the town clock struck nine, twenty-eight of our young people started on their journey to High Bridge. Everyone had a big time walking the bridge, climbing the steps, riding in boats, visiting caves, and eating all kinds of "goodies." At 1:00 o'clock the crowd started back, returning by way of Brooklyn Bridge, Shakerstown, and Shawnee Run, where supper was spread. It was gratifying to note what a fine church-building we found at Shawnee Run and to learn that they have about 250 at their Sunday School, and we determined that we must all do better in the future. The pioneers got back to town about 5 o'clock, marking the "End of a Perfect Day." We regret that every member of the B. Y. P. U. was not present. Special credit is due to Rold Long, Noah Marston, Shipton Bates and Penn Williams, who furnished the cars. "Keep up with the B. Y. P. U., or wish you had," is one of our mottos.

"Radical" Drop In Food Prices.

Washington, (Associated Press.) Potatoes, fruits, and vegetables generally neared the season's low price level to date last week, according to a Department of Agriculture market summary issued recently. At $1 a barrel, reached in New York, potato prices to growers "are now lower than ought to be, considering the cost of production," the statement said.

In Western cities potatoes are higher than in the East, and the price range is from $4 to $5 a barrel.

Unions at 70 cents a bushel, and cabbage at $20 a ton, the statement said, "are going at radical prices." Canteloupes, watermelons and green stuffs and summer fruits generally have "suffered a severe reaction from the high market of spring and early summer."

The first of Western boxed apples to reach Chicago are bringing from $2.50 to $3 against a $4 price early in the season.

Who's Who In State Biography.

By Wm. J. Jones, in Courier Journal.

The Courier Journal of August 14th, give the following complimentary birthday notice of a former rural boy, who is well remembered by friends here:

T. Bronson Ray, clergyman, son of Dr. William and Nancy Ray, was born near Lancaster, August 14th, 1868. His father practiced medicine in this community for more than forty years.

Bronson received his early education in the public schools and in Elliott Institute at Kirksville. He was graduated from Georgetown College with the degree of A. M. in 1895, which institute later conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was president of his class. While in college he served for three years in old Clear Creek Baptist Church, near Versailles. He was graduated from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in 1898 with the degree of the M. While in the seminary he acted as tutor of Greek.

In September, 1898, he became pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Nashville, Tenn., which church he held until his resignation in November, 1906. While pastor in Nashville he held membership on various mission boards and was very active in developing the Baptist life in Tennessee. In November, 1906, he became educational secretary of the Foreign Missionary Board, Southern Baptist Convention, with headquarters at Richmond, Va. He continues to serve that board in the capacity now of associate secretary.

In 1898 he married Miss Maude Ways of Georgetown, Ky. Their married life was very brief, Mrs. Ray dying in Nashville, three years later. On January 1, 1906, he married Miss Davie Jasper of Plano, Texas, who was a native Kentuckian, having been born near Hustonville.

MARKET ASSOCIATION PAYS LARGE PROFITS

Pinto Bean Growers of New Mexico Making Money.

Farm Organization, Eliminating Local Buyers Who Were Rapidly Destroying Industry Through Careless Packing.

"The pinto bean growers of this state have earned $20,000 in additional profits from their 1919 crop through their co-operative marketing association initiated by specialists of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture," was the recent statement made by a New Mexico pinto bean grower.

Before the association was formed the beans were purchased by local buyers who practically controlled the market and therefore paid almost any price they chose. These buyers were rapidly destroying the possibilities that offered in the marketing of pinto beans through the lack of care in grading and packing. Choice, cleaned pinto beans was a technical trade name that came to mean nothing for the beans often contained splits and dirt as a result of which the trade could not depend upon the quality of the product.

Now the farmers do their own marketing through the association. Sixteen warehouses, properly equipped with grading and packing machinery, have been erected. The beans are carefully graded and then packed in new, even-weight, discolored bags, which are neatly sewed and branded. The association demands clean cars from the railroad and in loading the sacks ends of the sacks face one way. The association believes in the bureau of markets' proved theory that when a buyer throws open the door of a car he is instantly impressed if the contents present a clean, orderly appearance. The New Mexico association has 1,500 members and marketed 250 carloads of beans last year. It is constantly calling on the bureau of markets for assistance which is cheerfully given.

SHEEP REQUIRE PURE WATER

Regular Daily Supply is Important in Winter as Well as Summer for Best Results.

Some farmers seem to think that sheep do not need water and will do just as well without it. Although not heavy drinkers, sheep certainly need a regular daily supply of water in winter as well as in summer. If they cannot get clean water they will find dirty water, or in winter, will eat snow.

Experienced sheep men see to it that water for sheep is always and easily accessible. The best of feeding with hay and grain is useless without water. The body suffers without water, the appetite is lessened and a poor, run down animal is the result. Besides water, the sheep need salt. All these things are necessary to keep sheep in good condition.

SYSTEMS OF FEEDING FOWLS

Danger of Bowel Trouble Lessened Where "Dry" Plan is Used—Also Saves Labor.

There are two systems in use for the feeding of fowls, in one of which all the feed is given dry and in the other of which one or more of the daily feeds consists of a moistened mash. For convenience they may be termed the "dry feed" and the "mash" systems, although in the dry feed system a dry mash is often fed. Dry feeding is used by many where it is not convenient to make and feed a moistened mash. The greatest advantages to be derived from the dry system are the saving of labor and the lessened danger of bowel trouble resulting from sloppy or soured mashes.

PROPER TIME TO CUT WHEAT

When Straw Has Lost Nearly All of Green Color and Grains Are Not Entirely Hard.

Wheat may be cut with safety when the straw has lost nearly all its green color and the grains are not entirely hardened. If cut sooner than this shrunken kernels will result. If left standing until fully ripe a bleached appearance, due to the action of the elements, often results, and loss from shattering may ensue. Wheat that is fully ripe is also more difficult to handle. Where the area of wheat is large, cutting should begin as early as it can be done safely.—Farmers' Bulletin 885, United States Department of Agriculture.

Ed has made good in the West and is now connected with the Rock Island Railroad and holds a responsible position. He has been away about twenty years. Time has dealt gently with him however and he looks as well as when he left, though more corpulent.

Belle — Adams

Richlands, Va.—On Aug. 16th, 1920, a quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. U. Terrill, when Mrs. Terrill's sister, Miss Mattie Adams, of Lancaster, Ky., the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams, became the bride of Mr. David Belle, of Baltimore, Md.

The house was artistically decorated in yellow and white. Little Zeigler dressed in yellow and white formed an isle with yellow and white ribbons, down which the bridal party marched to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March.

which was rendered by Mrs. Chas. Baker of Chicago. First, came the minister, Mr. A. W. Arrowood followed by little ringbearer, Marvin Hurt McGuire, Jr. The bride handsomely dressed in a suit of midnight blue entered on the arm of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on No. 6 for an Eastern Tour amid a shower of rice and good wishes. The bride, who is a fair type of a Kentucky Belle has visited in Richlands many times, and the number of gifts testified to her popularity here. The groom is a prominent young business man of Baltimore, Maryland.

Last week a number of social events were given in honor of Mrs. Chas. Baker of Chicago and Miss Mattie Adams of Lancaster, Ky.

On Tuesday from 4 to 6, Mrs. Terrill entertained at a reception in honor of her sister, Miss Adams. The house, which was beautifully decorated, was lit with pink and white candles. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. J. H. Crabtree and ushered into the den, where they were received by Mrs. M. Zeigler and served punch by Miss Alveta White. Charlotte Zeigler presented each guest with a hand-painted card announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Adams to Mr. David Belle, as they passed into the living room; here they were received by the hostess and guest of honor and shown into the dining room by Mrs. T. H. Davis, where Mrs. M. H. McGuire was hostess, Misses Sublett and Catron assisted her in serving ice-cream cake and mints which carried out the color scheme. During the entire afternoon music was rendered by Mrs. John Ratliff and Miss Boggers. Forty-five guests registered in the Bride's Book.

On Wednesday Mrs. W. B. Spratt was at home in honor of Mrs. Chas. Baker at a porch tea. The hostess was assisted by Mesdames Eckstine, Draper and White in serving delightful tea, sandwiches and cakes. About forty guests called during the afternoon.

On Thursday Miss Margaret Boggers entertained at luncheon in honor of Miss Adams. Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 Mrs. M. H. McGuire gave a linen shower for Miss Adams. Little Alice Seigler dressed as a fairy led the bride-to-be into the dining room where the gifts were displayed. The guests were given folders and pencils and asked to give advice on "Ways and Means" of managing a husband. The hostess served a delightful salad course.

On Friday Mrs. W. B. Spratt was hostess at a five course luncheon.

On Saturday Mrs. T. D. Sexton entertained from 5 to 7 at a "42" party. On arriving the guests were shown into the parlor where they were served punch and each requested to give a toast to the bride-to-be. After several interesting games a delicious salad and ice course was served. The guests-prize was a hand-made centerpiece.

Prize Bull May

Come By Plane.

The first bull to ride in an airplane will be piloted by a Louisville aviator if the offer made by Stanley Hubbard to Mrs. S. T. Henning, Allendale Farms, Shelbyville, is accepted.

Hubbard in his letter, offers to carry Raleigh's Farmer's Joy, a Jersey bull, the son of Raleigh's Farmer's Glory, the highest-priced bull in the world, from Syracuse, N. Y., to Louisville in eight hours. Mrs. Henning to follow in a plane directly behind.

The Shelbyville bull is entered to show in the prize ring at the New York State Fair Sept. 14th, against his father, for which Ayer McKenney, New York, recently paid $30,000. The bull also is entered to show in the Jersey ring at the Kentucky State Fair, September 16th. The two fairs have simultaneous dates, September 13-18, and Mrs. Henning had despaired of fulfilling her desire to match son against father when W. C. Hanna, Commissioner of Agriculture, suggested sending it by air.

Mrs. Henning welcomed the suggestion; also declared her intention of following by plane so she could see both showings.

Hubbard says he will use a Handley-Page plane with a car for passengers, in which he will strap the bull in such a position that he cannot fall, no matter what position the plane may be in, and yet would allow him freedom to move his head.

A Sentimental Bath

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

Nancy Marvin had got out of bed on the wrong side, her honest, humble, good-natured husband, Seth, insisted when she began the day with a yawn, the finale against the ledge that had kept him out until after 11 the next previous.

"Don't scold me, Nancy," advised Seth in perfect temper. "It was a special meeting to raise funds for a charity nearly all sick and likely to be thrust out to starve if the good brethren hadn't rallied to the rescue." But Nancy refused to be mollified. She covertly alluded to churchy begging at home, she found fault with Seth because some of his clothes were spread about the room, and finally made manifest to him the fact that the Blivens across the street had a new phonograph which they had brought over and set playing to while away Nancy's lonely longes.

Nancy pettishly alluded to their own old melodeon, worse than out of repair and no one to play it, and Seth made a mental note as to a substitute.

"Things went wrong at the breakfast table where Seth upset the cream jug and Nancy, nervous and excited, broke the handle from a treasured china cup. Matters grew worse when she gathered up the dishes at the sink and Seth, as usual came up to kiss her good-bye for the day. She had a bowl of water in her hand as he was leaving an arm about her waist.

"Good-bye, Nancy dear," he cried in his jolliest tone but she resented all familiarity and affectionate demonstration on this particular occasion. "Get along, now," scolded Nancy. "I'm in the mood for nonsense," and then all her little temper flared forth. With a sharp dip she directed the bowl towards the hovering face.

Splash.

Seth staggered back, choking, spluttered, dripping. Nancy smiled. She had gone further than she had expected and was sorry for it. Half frightened as she was, however, her lips set obstinately. She gave a great gasp as, without a word but very serious looking even and his ludicrous condition from the involuntary bath, Seth proceeded calmly to the door, shook away the trickling drops and went outside.

Overcome with a sense of his monstrous violence and assault against ordinary decorum, Nancy gave utterance to a low wail, flapped that upon the floor and sat there righting two and fro, her face buried in her hands, a realization of her net overpowering her. Seth, passing the side window, glanced in and discerned the apparent contrition or remorse of his emotional better half. His rugged features softened somewhat.

"She's a good sort," he soliloquized. "But I mustn't encourage her in kicking over the traces this way. It might be dishes or the rolling pin next. Oh, well, she's mostly sunshine, and will be nice as pie when I come home tonight. I suppose it does sort of upset her to have the Blivens folks get things I don't buy her, but I'll humor this last whim.

Nancy was thoroughly ashamed of herself for her impetuous action an hour after her commission. Usually Seth did not come home at noon, but she hoped that he would that especial day. She spent the morning cooking up a variety of toothsome delicacies, and was quite mellowed down by the time noon came around. She was upstairs making the beds when a child came running home from school sent her swiftly down the stairs. The lower part of the house was full of smoke and soot and the thrilling words reached her ears from outside:

"Fire! Telephone the hose company!"

There were no flames in the kitchen, but the chimney was belching forth flames and cinders and the shingles on the roof were smoking. Nancy began excitedly moving her best parlor furniture to the front porch. Then as the fire engine dashed into the yard and the hose was unrolled, she started for the kitchen and reached its open rear door in time to receive a broad, flushing deluge of water that drove her back, soaked from head to foot.

"H! play on the chimney and roof—that's where the fire is," came a stentorian command through the brass trumpet of the fire chief.

"That's it! All out!" announced the pipeman a minute later. Just then Seth dashed up.

"Where's Nancy—is she safe?" he panted, and his chilled, half fainting lips, clinging to the towel rack to recover from the shock of her bath, felt her heart warm at the anxious, loving tones.

"You dear!" shouted Seth, clasping her in his arms, a veritable dripping rag as to attire, streaked of face, her hair plastered down like wet moss, and he clung to her as if he would never let go.

"It's retribution!" sobbed the penitent Nancy.

"It's the luck of the world that you are unhurt and safe," exclaimed Seth, giving her another hug. "I'll take the afternoon off getting things to rights. Then we'll spend a pleasant evening on the porch listening to the music of the phonograph that will be here this afternoon. And when it plays 'Just Old Sweetheart of Mine,' we'll just kiss and make up like the fond foolish children that we are, won't we, Nancy, dear?"

SPOONAMORE & HESTER

DANVILLE, KENTUCKY.

ATTENTION LOOK WHAT IS COMING

It is my pleasure to announce that Mr. T. J. Todd has employed me as his agent to sub-divide what is known as the E. C. McWhorter farm in Garrard County, Kentucky on the Richmond and Lancaster pike (also now called the new Federal Highway over 200 miles long) and to offer this farm in small tracts from 10 acres to 100 acres to the highest and best bidder.

This sale will be conducted on Tuesday, Sept. 14th,

AT 10 O'CLOCK A. M. RAIN OR SHINE.

DESCRIPTION

A beautiful tract of land with long pike frontage situated in the heart of things, the land of plenty, where any man, woman or child will be glad to spend the remainder of his days, good neighbors, good school in one corner of the farm, good churches in walking distance, store, blacksmith, mill and small village, Manse, Ky., within 200 yards of this farm 8 miles from Lancaster, 3 miles from town of Paint Lick, 1 1/2 mile from county High School.

The thing about this farm that will interest most people is good land. This land will produce as much as any land. Lies so tractor machinery can work over all of it. Is well watered by ponds, concrete tanks and pools.

IMPROVEMENTS

A two story 10 room frame residence, lighted by Deleo Lighting System with automatic pumped water system, two bath rooms and running water on both floors. Nearly new frame garage building to hold two cars, carriage house, servant house, double corn crib, large stock barn with concrete silo, wagon scales, small stock barn, large tobacco barn. The grounds surrounding this home are as pretty as can be and it is not possible to describe this property in words. We will make an effort to have a photograph in next weeks advertising.

The sale will be conducted on the square and you will be pleased with your purchase if you buy all or part of this elegant home. We want you to call and look this over before sale date. Mr. Todd at the farm will be delighted to show you and the undersigned will go any time with you to look.

Placing the Vaid.
"Ol was in a milt' camp waunt," said the old Irish prospector, "when wan of these here miltal science fellows blew in, an' he claimed he cud till ye how much money ye had in yer pocket by lookin' in yer eye. He tried it on me, but, be jabers, Ol had the deadwood on him, for Ol had nothin' in me pocket."—New York Post.

First Use of Water Colors.
Water colors were practically unknown in Europe until the eighteenth century, and they were used only as a vehicle in art. French paintings were a natural outgrowth of their use. Water colors were employed by the artist in decorating many famous buildings. They took the place of oil colors.

Philosophy of a Cipher.
Consider the cipher. It amounts to nothing in itself, but when put at work with others behind a good strong figure it adds wonderfully to the value of the group. But if a cipher puts on airs and gets out in front of the procession, it becomes valueless again. Men might take a lesson and learn that their value lasts only as long as they stay on the job.

Ancients Used Wire Raps.
In Egypt thick botten wire was made into chains as far back as the second dynasty, 5200 B. C.; and links doubled and looped through one another appeared in the sixth dynasty, 4200 B. C. Yet chains were not commonly used until much later. The Gauls excelled in such work, as they used chain cables and rigging in place of rope to resist the Atlantic gales.

Mount McKinley Sinking.
Mount McKinley, the Oregon mountain, is sinking with the weight of ages. Within the last several years, when the peak shrugged its rocky shoulders in earthquakes, the loftiest mountain in North America has subsided at least 500 feet from its original altitude of 20,400 feet. Such was the assertion of Herschel C. Parker, geologist and mining engineer, who first scaled Mount McKinley in 1912.

Paradox.
Matherson surprised his friends at the club one evening by rising to leave much earlier than usual. "Why this haste?" said one of his friends. "The night is still young." "I know," replied Matherson; "but I promised my wife to be home by ten-thirty tonight and if I miss the last train I shall catch it!"

Rival Odors.
If you feel that you are experiencing hard luck, think of the Oregon man who recently completed a comfortable rise cottage on the seashore, when the sad sea waves washed up a dead whale in front of his home, and now he's decided that it will be cheaper to move the cottage than the whale.—Boston Transcript.

Fashion Traced to Moreau.
The nick in a coat has been a puzzle to many. It is said to date back to the time of Napoleon. A general named Moreau had many followers, but they were afraid to openly express sympathy with him. It was therefore agreed to put a nick on their coats as a secret sign. The letter M can be seen in the lapel representing the initial letter of the general's name.

Enthusiasm Wins.
The great deeds of the world, the triumphs of the race, have not been accomplished by men who were content merely to hold their own or "just to get along," but by men who were dominated by their purpose, filled with an overmastering enthusiasm which swept everything before it as a mountain torrent sweeps aside or overleaps every obstacle that would bar its progress in its mad rush to the sea.—New Success.

Utilizing Pea-Pod Fiber.
The fiber of pea-pods is separated for industrial use in a process covered by a recent patent. The outer layer is dissolved away by fermentation or by treatment with hot water or steam, the inner fibrous layer being left in a form adapted for spinning or utilization in other ways. The solution of the outer layer, containing sugar, is not necessarily a waste, as it can be made to serve some such purposes as preparing unsaturated.

Dreaming of Letters.
To dream of writing letters to your friends is a sign of coming good news; to dream of receiving letters from friends indicates some little misfortune to be followed by great happiness. To study belles-lettres means some pleasurable enjoyment in store. To see a letter carrier denotes news from some absent one; if his uniform is complete the news will be good; if incomplete, it will be disappointing.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Appreciated Lover's Tribute.
When Jenny Lind was in Vienna, years ago, a lover learned millinery and floristry so that he might sew in her hat daily three red roses as a tribute to her art. He might have sent huge baskets to her over the footlights, but his method was more delicate and Jenny Lind was pleased. Princess Metternich, too, used to wear flowers in her hat, according to a prominent florist, who trimmed exotic millinery for her daily.

Mankind's Wastefulness.
Macquarie Island, sought by Sir Douglas Mawson as a sanctuary for the Antarctic fauna, is nearly 400 square miles in area, lying 100 miles from Tasmania, in latitude 55 degrees south. Penguins of various species, sea elephants and seals exist here in vast numbers, but are being ruthlessly slaughtered for their oil. A flightless parrot, living on the island when it was discovered in 1810, has been exterminated by cats turned loose and allowed to run wild.

Pronounced Stinginess.
I was visiting a friend in her new farm home. Her nearest neighbor was a millionaire's son, trying practical farming on a well-improved farm. He had a large peach orchard, small fruits and beautiful roses. He brought us two roses one day and two peaches the next day. Neighbor women offered to put up his berries on shares, but as he was afraid they would be getting the best of the bargain, he let the fruit dry up on the vines.—Exchange.

Put Romance Before Truth.
Inaccuracies in history and anecdotes with no foundation of fact may be blamed on some of the older historians. The men who first wrote of Colonial and Revolutionary times often tried to make their accounts romantic and picturesque by revising history to suit themselves, because they did not see that the real facts were more romantic than their embellishments could make them. Our histories, paintings, poetry and traditions are still influenced by their work.

Then and Now.
Women in the home used to be ashamed to sit down; there seemed to be a virtue in wearing themselves out. The housekeeper who saved herself, who did not dust every few moments, scrub on her hands and knees and do such tasks, was called lazy. The belief now is that the most intelligent housekeeper, the one who studies every new invention and saves every step and motion, is the most conscientious and sensible one. Sit down to vegetable paring and all tasks where it is practicable.

BREEDING MALE OF IMPORTANCE

Cockerels Can Be Bought More Advantageously Now Than Later in Season.

SEEK HIGH EGG PRODUCTION

Flock Average of 150 to 160 Eggs a Year is Excellent—Trapnest Record of Mother Should Always Be Insisted On.

Progressive poultrymen are already looking forward to the mating of their flocks next spring. Cockerels which have been hatched this spring are now available for sale on many farms for less than they can be later in the fall. A breeding male that will command from $5 to $10 in November may be purchased now for about $3.

Head of Breeding Flock.
In purchasing cockerels one should insist that an exact pedigree be given on delivery of the bird, says H. W. Harvey of the University of Missouri college of agriculture. It is believed that the male bird is more important than the female in transmitting the character of high egg production. Not all male birds transmit the character ordinarily, a hen which lays 90 eggs or more during the winter season of November, December, January and February, will lay approximately 200 eggs a year. Of course, some environmental factor, such as a late spring, which we have been having this year, may affect the summer laying cycle, and thus reduce the production of the hen to a figure below 200, even though the winter cycle has been 90 eggs or more. The fact remains, nevertheless, that with our present knowledge of breeding poultry for egg production cockerels from hens that have exhibited this high egg production during the winter laying cycle are the ones to buy to head the breeding flock.

Secure Trapnest Record.
It is but a small proportion of the flock that lays 200 eggs or more during the year. The day of the 200-egg flock has not yet been attained. Poultrymen must not be misled by advertisements that have been appearing in the poultry papers by large fanciers offering birds for sale which have exceptional fancy points and at the same time are claimed to be from a 200-egg flock.

High Producing White Leghorns.

It is a flock average of 150 to 160 eggs a year is excellent production. Of course there are exceptional individuals in every flock. Approximately ten per cent of the White Leghorn pullets on the University of Missouri poultry farm show a trapnest record of more than 200 eggs a year. It is this small proportion of the flock that is used in pedigree breeding. Cockerels from this selected number are the ones that are believed to transmit the character of high egg production. If the farmer buys a cockerel without securing a trapnest record of its mother's pullet-year production he has no means whatever of knowing whether or the bird can transmit the ability for a 200 egg production during the winter season. In other words, 200 egg daughters, or whether he will transmit an ability for producing no eggs at all during the winter season when eggs are highest in price. A trapnest record which shows that the mother of the cockerel has laid 30 eggs from November to March inclusive should always be insisted upon when purchasing new male birds for breeding. To buy on any other basis is a very uncertain procedure, and the chances are less than half for increasing, even in a small degree, the general flock average.

SOME ESSENTIALS FOR PIGS

Important That Porks Be Provided With Shade, Fresh Water and Abundant Pasture.

This is the season of the year when pigs should have lots of good water, shade and pasture, says H. W. Clark, of the Colorado Agricultural College. The farmer who does not provide these things must not blame the packers next fall when he sells his porkers.

The way some farmers handle their pigs during the growing season they would need a dollar a pound to break even. A little grain along with pasture will secure good results and it should be provided by all means.

Mark Twain's Dire Threats.

When Mark Twain wrote "Huckleberry Finn" he penned this introduction: "Persons attempting to find a motive in this narrative will be prosecuted; persons attempting to find a moral in it will be punished; persons attempting to find a plot in it will be shot."

Origin of Coal.

After an exhaustive study of a number of coal seams, James Lehigh concludes that almost all had their origin in vegetable matter deposited on the spot, the coal substance being formed by the dropping of leaves, twigs, bark and fruits, to the shape of seeds and fruitlike cones mainly from large trees.

"The Mule."

Being told to write a brief essay on "The Mule," Howard turned into his teacher the following effort: "The mule is a harder bird than the goose or the turkey. It has two legs to walk with, two more to kick with, and wears its wings on the side of its head. It is stubbornly backward about coming forward."

Tactful Youngster.

Mother bought a box of candy, but it was nearly dinner time so would not give any to Sonny. While waiting for the dinner bell to ring Sonny said: "Mamma, let's play store." Mother was willing, so the child went on with his game of make-believe. Said he: "This room will be the candy store. You be the clerk and I'll be buying. But, oh, mamma, let's have real candy!"

Sea Serpents Numerous.

There are plenty of sea serpents, and of all snakes they are the most venomous. In tropical waters they are vastly numerous, especially in the Indian ocean, where they are often seen literally by hundreds, swimming at the surface of the water. They are six to eight feet long, very fierce and will commonly attack human beings. Their bodies are flat, and almost wholly filled by the lungs.

Unpleasant Bedfellow.

In California and on the staked plains in Texas where the nights are cold, it is the rattlesnake's custom to crawl between a traveler's blankets and snuggle up close to him till morning. Numbers of them are killed in camp every year by soldiers campaigning in that section; but as the rattlesnakes seldom abuse hospitality by biting the sleeper, few accidents happen. Still, there are men who, when out on a hard march, prefer to sleep alone.

Content With Little.

"It seems to me," said Martha, with the wisdom that the simple in heart acquire with pain and travail, "that in this world a woman's only chance of happiness is if she loves. Being loved doesn't make her so. . . . Screw Is Modern Invention.

Screws were invented in 400 B. C., the "screws" referred to in Exodus having been merely a small knife with a pair of tweezers to trim the wicks of lamps, with a point to part the strands. The screw was a Greek invention, and greatly used by the Romans as a means of producing motion. Centuries passed, however, before the nut and screw, for fastening, was invented. The common screw came into use less than 200 years ago.

Anne Boleyn's Clock.

The weights of a clock at Windsor castle bear on the "The Most Happy," and the clock is further inscribed with the motto, "Joy et mon droid," and the letters "H. A." entwined in true-lovers' knots. This exquisitely-made clock—only four inches deep and ten inches high—was a gift from Henry VIII to Anne Boleyn on her wedding day. It was in the possession of Horace Walpole, and Queen Victoria paid $55 for it when the contents of Strawberry Hill were sold in 1842.

Candle Your Eggs

My dear Editor:

Complaints have reached this board that the regulations of the State Board of Health in regard to the candling of eggs from May 15th to January 15th of each year are not being observed.

It was estimated in 1917 that 10,000,000 cases of eggs were lost as food due to rotting and improper handling. This meant a financial loss of over $100,000,000. The candling of eggs by buyers and shippers will force them on the market while fresh and prevent the shipping of rotten eggs and greatly reduce this loss.

The regulations to insure this candling can be condensed as follows:

Candle all eggs bought or sold between the dates of May 15th and January 15th of each year.

Farmers, County Merchants, Hucksters and Shippers, can easily and cheaply save eggs and money by selling them while fresh and observing the rule that requires an egg candling certificate in every case of eggs put on the market.

Buyers of eggs—Candle all eggs at time of purchase. Pay only for good edible eggs; returning the bad ones to producer. Keep statement of purchases showing number of good and bad eggs in each lot. Put candling certificate in each egg case.

Shippers of eggs—Ship eggs as soon as possible. See that all eggs shipped have candling certificates in case.

Receivers and Brokers—Refuse to accept any case of eggs that does not contain a properly signed and dated candling certificate.

At present the inspectors of the Federal and State Food Departments are making inspections of shipments of eggs; and violators of the Federal Law in interstate shipments and of the Board of Health rulings in interstate shipments, will be prosecuted. A copy of this letter is being mailed to every prosecuting attorney in this state with the request that prosecutions be instituted in every case of violation of the law.

The use of any parts of this letter in news or editorial comment will greatly aid this Board in furthering its work of procuring for the people of Kentucky a much needed and wholesome food supply.

Respectfully,

A. I. McCormack,
State Health Officer.

Sarah H. Vance,

Director, Bureau of Food, Drugs and Hotels.

Is Sanity Returning

In one of our large cities there is a manufacturer who employs numerous traveling men who penetrate every nook and corner of the country. These men are instructed, in addition to the sale of goods, to keep their fingers constantly upon the pulse of the people and report to the home office.

This manufacturer is firmly of the opinion that the country has about recovered from its delirium of commercial and financial insanity and is on the return to normal conditions and stability.

The public has ceased to buy with such extravagant abandon, confining itself to the purchase of such articles as are legitimately required.

This has curtailed the demand, with the result that thousands of employees have laid off, and others will follow.

Most of these men spent their money as easily as it was earned, and it is only a question of time when they will be forced to accept other employment at reduced compensation.

This, thinks the manufacturer, marks the beginning of a downward trend in the cost of labor, with a consequent decline in the price of the finished products.

He thinks the decline will be slow and gradual in all lines, but effective, and he does not look for a panic or any other great disturbance of our commercial and financial systems.

Sounds reasonable, and we hope it is true.

What's The Matter Anyway?

This paper is not a matchmaker, but we are firmly of the opinion that the chances of wedding bells should be heard more frequently in this community.

We are signally blessed with young ladies of beauty, refinement and culture. There are none to compare with them elsewhere.

Our young men are energetic, brainy, and full of ability and pep.

Then, too, we have some delightful old bachelors who ought to be ashamed of themselves for drifting through life without the charm of womanhood.

What's the matter with this town, anyway?

Little Dan Cupid is hovering around continually, whispering sweet things into willing ears, but withholding the shaft that is tipped with the essence of matrimonial felicity.

Slackers? We don't believe it. No young man on earth could fail to fall for the charms of our young womanhood.

Finance? Not a bit of it. What young fellow of spirit would admit his ability to keep a wife?

What, then, is the reason? Perhaps Cupid knows—we don't.

Could She Carry Them?

While I was getting my hat and coat on my little boy asked me where I was going and I told him that I was going to get seats for the circus. He said, "Mamma, can you carry them?"—Exchange.

Chance Not to Be Missed.

It was Willie's first visit to the country, and after going with his uncle to feed the stock in the barn, he ran back to the house, shouting: "Oh mamma, come quick! Fude Jim has a whole circus in his barn, and he is going to feed the animals!"

The Fourth Dimension.

The fourth dimension is merely a mathematical speculation. It is assumed to be the property of matter that should be to solids as solids are to planes. Mathematical investigations are made on the assumption of an indefinite number of dimensions.

Peculiar Fish.

Very common in the mud flats at the mouth of rivers in tropical Africa, Asia and northwest Australia are the mud-skippers, or jumping gahies, which leap about quickly, using their tails and the strong base of their fore fins as a sort of double-topping instrument. Sometimes they rest on a stone with their tails in the water, as they are able to breathe by their tail fins as well as by their gills! Sometimes they sit perched high and dry on the roots of the mangrove trees, looking round and round with their strangely protruded, mobile eyes, which are close together on the top of the head.

On the South side of the street. This is a beautiful place to live and a splendid home. Be sure to examine this one carefully. Here is a bargain for somebody.

NO. 7. TWO HOUSES AND LOTS for Dr. Printus Walker, both located on Campbell Street. One a lot 42x210 feet, with 6 room dwelling, 3 porches, 2 pantries, basement; barn. The other a lot 50 x210 feet, 6 room dwelling, hall, 2 porches, barn; meat house. This property is located right up in town convenient, and no matter what it brings on sale day is bound to increase in value.

We are not attempting to go into complete details in description of these different properties, but we ask you to look them over carefully as the bidders fix the price.

NO. 8. HERE IS A GOOD ONE. Modern and up to date in every particular. Located on one of the most desirable residence streets in Lancaster. On the South side of Richmond Street. The property of Mrs. Lula C. Johnson. On a splendid lot, 9 room dwelling, hardwood floors, enclosed concrete porch with cistern in porch, bath room, furnace, front porch, concrete garage, electric lights and water works, a splendid garden. Mrs. Johnson now lives in Woodford County and she has directed us to sell this property. It is too good to rent out. Had not Mrs. Johnson moved away this property could not have been purchased at any price. Now somebody else will own it and perhaps at a bargain. Seldom one like this for sale.

NO. 9. IF YOU WANT A HOME just out side of the City limits with enough land to make a living and money besides look over this property of J. W. Speake. 15 1/2 acres, one mile from the City limits on New Danville pike. A brand new six room two story dwelling, two porches, cistern, garage, new tobacco barn. 7 acres in grass, balance in cultivation. Good cistern and plenty of stock water. This is first class fertile land. Here is your chance to get a nice home close to town. Look it over.

All of this property will be sold on easy terms and for possession some of it at once or for January 1, 1921, just to suit the purchaser. Terms and particulars as to possession will be announced at the sale.

PASTURING HOGS MOST ESSENTIAL

Interesting and Instructive Experiments Made With Sows at Illinois Station.

SIZE OF LITTER INCREASED

Popular Belief Substantiated That Young Mothers Produce Smaller Pigs—Variation in Length of Gestation Period.

A careful study of records relating to the birth of 720 litters of pigs at the University of Illinois reveals many enlightenings for those interested in hog raising. The 720 litters contained 5840 pigs of seven distinct breeds. The following conclusions are drawn from the records: No. 1. The University of Illinois agricultural experiment station.

On the whole, the belief that young sows produce smaller pigs than do older sows is substantiated. Likewise the data substantiated popular belief that up to a certain age, about three years, there is an increase in the size of litter as sows grow older.

The older sows, however, 12.3 per cent of total or immature pigs as compared to 8.1 per cent by the younger sows.

It is doubtful whether there are any variations in farrow attributable to the season at which pigs are farrowed.

In successful litters from the same sow there was an increase in number of pigs per litter and in the weight of individual pigs and the fourth litter, at which time the sows were three and one-half years old.

The records obtained from 500 litters showed a wide range, 18 to 100 days, in the length of gestation period, with an average of 114.5 days. Those with 114.5 per cent of the litters were farrowed between the one hundred and seventy-fifth and one hundred and seventy-seventh days. The general belief that old sows have a gestation period one to three days longer than young or sows seems to have no very good basis.

Farmers Should Be Careful That Pig Pens Are Clean and Dry.

Neither Sex Predominates.

There was little if any correlation between the length of gestation period and the birth weight of pigs, and the sex of pigs in relation to the length of gestation shows no tendency for either sex to predominate more than normal.

The average size of litters was 8.1 pigs. The average weight of a litter was about 20 pounds. The average weight of pigs in litters with fewer pigs than the average was 2.67 pounds and in litters with more pigs it was 2.57 pounds. The grand average of all pigs was 2.55 pounds.

PROVIDE GOOD GREEN FEED

Unoccupied Space in Garden Should Be Seeded to Rapid Growing Crop of Some Kind.

The average poultry keeper is at ways short of succulent green feed during the late summer and early fall and provision should be made for a supply. Every bit of ground in the garden from which early crops have been harvested should be seeded to corn, rape, lettuce, kale or whatever makes the most rapid growth in your locality.

ALFALFA AND SWEET CLOVER

Two Crops Are First Cousins But Decidedly Different in Making Their Growths.

Cut alfalfa when the buds of the second growth begin to show at the crowns of the plants. But sweet clover when the blossoms are about half out and raise the sickle bar at least four inches. These two crops are first cousins but they are decidedly different in this respect: Alfalfa shoots from a crown; sweet clover shoots from buds on the main stem.

CAUSE OF OVERGROWN WINGS

Result From Defective Brooding Conditions or Lack of Vitality—Clip Them Off.

Overgrown wings in brooder chicks result from defective brooding conditions or lack of vitality. Often the wings really are not overgrown but only appear so because the chicks, being weakly, let them hang down. If they develop to the point where they are a burden to the chick they should be clipped off.

CAN SOME GREENS FOR NEXT WINTER

Can Surplus Vegetables for Use Next Winter—In Some Cases Production Is Being Curtailed and There Is Need for Careful Saving of Every Bit of Surplus.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Greens of all kinds, both wild and cultivated, are well liked by most people and are valuable food in the human dietary. If more were eaten there would be less need of resorting to the doctor.

When the various kinds of greens are young, tender and at their best, some should be canned for use during the winter. Of the wild greens the dandelion is the most common. Among the cultivated greens are Swiss chard, kale, Chinese cabbage leaves, French endive, cabbage sprouts, turnip tops, young tender New Zealand spinach, dandelion, young tender dishhead sprouts, native mustard, Russian mustard, collards and tender rape leaves. All possess iron and other needed mineral substances and are nearly as delicious when canned as when fresh.

The following directions for canning greens are given by the United States Department of Agriculture.

On greens the day they are picked sort thoroughly, wash well clean and place the greens in a sieve or in cheesecloth. Blanch in live steam for 15 minutes. Remove the greens, place in a freshly scalded pan and cut into convenient lengths. Pack into hot jars which have been boiled 15 minutes and add boiling salt water, using one tablespoonful salt to one quart water. Put boiled rubbers on the jars, then the heated tops and partially seal the jars. If a steam-pressure cooker is used, process for 10 minutes under ten-pound pressure. If a hot-water bath canner is used, place the jars on a false bottom in a commercial canner or a washbowl with sufficient water to cover. Process for three hours, during after the water starts to boil. Remove and seal tight immediately. Cool in a place free from drafts, test for leaks and store in a cool, dry place.

The addition of a small amount of vinegar to vegetables which are being canned apparently tends to increase their keeping qualities. Not enough is added, however, to be very noticeable to the taste.

HOUSEWIFE OF TODAY KEEPS FOOD ACCOUNT

She is Checking Up Weights and Measures of Products.

Decreased Buying Power of Dollar Makes Her Think and Avoid All Kinds of Waste—Lessens Prices in Many Ways.

The modern housewife is becoming expert in buying. She is reading the labels, in accordance with the suggestion made by the United States department of agriculture, and checking up the weights and measures of the food products she buys. She has learned when to buy in quantity and when in small amount, and when it is more economical to buy in bulk than in package. Many have compared the cost of making bread at home and of buying it and are choosing the way that is best for them.

The lessened buying power of the dollar has made her think and avoid all kinds of waste. The family must be kept well nourished, but the wife and mother should not provide more food than is needed. She must know what kind of food will fill her market basket to the best advantage. Along with this knowledge is that of how much of the family food should come from each food group and how far it is wise to save money by using more food from the less expensive groups. The housewife of today is keeping a food account and checks up her weekly buying by the plan she has made.

If she wishes to try to lessen prices for everybody here are some of the ways she is going at it: By producing food at home; by using local products; by choosing food that is plentiful in the markets; by lessening her use of such foods as are scarce; by cooperative buying; and by using the pared food.

VARIETY NEEDED IN BREADS

More Important When Lunch Must Be Carried Than at Other Meals to Avoid Monotony.

Variety in breads is more important when the lunch must be carried than at other meals because of the danger of monotony. Wheat bread, whole wheat bread, corn, rye or oatmeal breads; nut, raisin and date breads; beaten biscuit, crisp baking powder biscuit or soda biscuit, and toast, zwieback, and crackers may be used in turn to give variety.

MAKE OVER CLOTHES NEEDED

Careful Selection of Things Wardrobe Should Contain Is Involved in Planning Wardrobe.

Make over only things that are needed and suited for immediate use. This involves planning the wardrobe, and making a careful selection of the things it should contain. A make-over dress that does not harmonize with the coat and hat that must be worn with it represents a sad bit of mismanagement.

CLUB GIRLS TAUGHT TO PREPARE SUPPER

Each Member Is Assigned Certain Part of the Meal.

Constructive Criticism Found to Be Valuable in Making Each Repast a Little Bit Better Than the Preceding One.

To make sure that the girls in the home-making clubs, supervised by the United States department of agriculture and the Connecticut State Agricultural college, are able to put to practical use what they have learned in the clubs about buying, cooking and serving food, their leaders have organized "supper clubs."

These clubs meet twice a month at the local leaders' home. At the first meeting of the month a well-balanced meal is planned with the help of the leader. Each girl is assigned a certain part of the meal, for which she is responsible.

At the second meeting she brings the material and prepares, cooks and serves her part of the supper. Adults are asked to these suppers, and the invitations are highly prized. The usual menu consists of meat, potatoes, one vegetable, hot bread, sometimes salad, dessert, and a hot drink. So far the average cost per person served has been 25 to 30 cents.

After the meal the club girls meet in a group and discuss and criticize the various articles on the menu and the serving. This constructive criticism has been found to be very valuable in making each supper a little better in every way than the preceding one.

GROUP UTENSILS IN KITCHEN

Equipment Should Be So Arranged That Everything Is Handy—Put Small Things on Hooks.

Group your utensils so that you can reach them easily. Put those most frequently used in the most convenient places. Small ones may be hung on little hooks fastened to the wall or the edge of a shelf.

Margarine contains nearly as much food value as butter.

Salt and soda are excellent for bee stings and spider bites.

Cooked dried apricots served with maxemulose and grated cheese make a delicious salad.

Old linen dresses can be ripped apart and the best sections made up into dollies and table linens.

Stretch the ironing board cover and it will keep clean longer, the clothes will slip over it more easily, making it a real pleasure to iron.

EX-KAISER HAS $340,000 LEFT

Sons Always "Broke."

THE HAGUE—From persons here closely connected with the former Kaiser's intimate entourage it is learned that Wilhelm's fortune in Holland at present amounts to 1,000,000 guilders, at current exchange $340,000, this being equivalent to the sum the former monarch brought with him from Germany in 1918.

According to the best authority, Wilhelm has received no other money from Germany since. The sum already mentioned has been placed in a bank in the name of his Hofmarschal, Von Gothard, who manages all of the Doorn household's financial affairs, and is said to be "a regular tight wad."

William Hohenzollern cannot draw as much as one dollar from the bank without Von Gothard's signature.

The purchase of a house at Doorn, costing 500,000 guilders, and the alterations and surplus building, costing another 500,000 guilders, have been a considerable drain on the Hohenzollern funds, contributing to Wilhelm's anxiety about the public appropriation of his estates in Germany.

Wilhelm's old friend, Prince Fuerstenburg, has lately been at Doorn to discuss the fate of the Hohenzollern property.

Numerous visits to Doorn by Wilhelm's sons, who at present are in financial straits, are generally with the object of obtaining money. Wilhelm refuses to be touched, but the former Kaiserin is unable to refuse her sons' demands on her purse, so they depart with any ready money she has, sometimes only a few hundred guilders.

Scrambled.

The confusion of the Republicans, nationally, over the party stand on the issue of the League of Nations has spread to Kentucky. State Chairman Searcy vows solemnly that a majority in this State opposes "Mr. Wilson's League of Nations," but he does not venture to say whether they favor Mr. Harding's separate peace with Germany and "sympathetic approach" afterward. Also he leaves his readers entirely in the dark as to whether this majority opposes "Mr. Cox's League of Nations" with two reservations which answer every argument, real and fantastic, made against "Mr. Wilson's League."

Now comes George Weissinger Smith, Republican Mayor of Louisville, and a hot boiler-plate from Colorado Springs, where he is awaiting inspiration on the street railway problem, quotes him as favoring Mr. Lodge's ex-League of Nations, now abandoned by Mr. Lodge. But Mr. Lodge's ex-League is not Mr. Harding's Association; Mr. Johnson and Mr. Borah thunder against all Leagues; Mr. Taft favors Mr. Wilson's League and Mr. Cox's League; Mr. Searcy opposes Mr. Wilson's League, but is silent on Mr. Cox's League and offers no substitute. Governor Morrow implies a liking for Mr. Lodge's ex-League, but comes out strong for a ship of state, with Skipper Harding on the bridge steering her north and Governor Coolidge on the poop steering her south. Mr. Ernest is as yet in statu quo; Mr. Hart is in Mackinac.

THE TIMES, not possessing Mr. Searcy's absolute information, nevertheless hazards the prediction that the majority in this State will prefer the known Democratic programme to the unknown Republican programme, the big League to the Bush League, the existing fact to the diversified theory, one clear pronouncement to such a babel of many tongues as has not been heard since they quit work on the Tower.—Courier-Journal.

Historically it dates back to the Han dynasty, 200 A. D. It is during this period that we find the first records of the production of porcelain in China, though earthenware vessels were probably produced some centuries earlier.

116 ACRES

BOYLE COUNTY LAND--THE R. G. DOHONEY FARM

at Auction

Thursday, Sept 2nd

10 o'clock.

LOCATION:—2 1/2 miles of Danville, on the Stanford Pike, in good neighborhood, close to school, on a splendid pike, one of the best in the county. Just the place to make money and educate your children in the best schools of the State. Last the right size farm. Has long frontage on pike, and can be divided to an advantage. If two parties want smaller farms buy it together and make the division, or the purchaser can sell off a part for more per acre than he will pay for the entire farm.

IMPROVEMENTS:—Splendid 7 room dwelling, pantry, hall and 2 porches; 2 smaller houses and out-house in yard, new garage, new tobacco barn and stock barn with water tank and trough in barn; new 3 room tenant house.

This farm is well watered, cistern at door, large spring with concrete water trough, good orchard; beautiful yard with shade trees. This is an attractive and desirable home and you don't want to overlook this one. 50 acres in blue grass, well balanced in cultivation.

3-Small Farms-3

For G. A. CARPENTER, In Lincoln Co.,

AT

Public Auction.

38 Acres With Improvements. 17 Acres With Improvements

These two farms are divided by pike.

LOCATION:—On Preachersville pike, 1/4 mile from Stanford and Crab Orchard pike and 3 miles from Stanford.

The 38 acre tract has 6 room cottage, 3 porches, well and cistern, stock and tobacco barn, other out buildings, good orchard—strawberries, and other small fruit. 5 acres in tobacco and corn—balance in Blue Grass. Nice little home fronting right on pike, nice yard, plenty of shade, good fencing and everlasting stock water.

The 17 acre tract is all in grass and has cottage of 4 rooms and porch.

The two together make a splendid little 55 acre farm. Look it over it may be just what you want.

Also the third farm of 60 acres on the County Road leading from the Preachersville Pike to Goshen Pike, about 1 mile from the above tracts. 3 room house with porch. Small stock barn. 8 acres in corn and tobacco, balance in Blue Grass. Well watered by wells, pools and ponds. No waste land.

The sale will be held at the 38 acre tract where Mr. Carpenter lives.

Easy terms and possession January 1, 1921.

THE JOHN A. HAM FARM OF 60 ACRES

including fine buildings, now owned by Jas Rogers, at AUCTION, on the premises about 3 miles North of Cottonburg, on the Kentucky River pike in Madison County to be sold in separate tracts,

5-25 and 30 Acre Tracts,

Friday, August 27th

AT 10:00 A. M.

This is one of the choice farms of this noted sandstone belt, good land, well situated and exceptionally improved; long pike frontage and a beautiful place to live. If you buy one or all you will have something to attract the other fellow when you choose if ever to resell.

TRACT NO. 1—House tract consists of 25 acres, fine 9 room residence, stock barn and every necessary outbuilding, beautiful shade and abundance of bearing fruit trees. You can not duplicate the improvements alone on this tract for less than $10,000.

TRACT NO. 2—Consists of 30 acres of as fine land as ever a plow was stuck into. One good 6 acre tobacco barn right at road and a fine building or residence site close by. This will make you a home and money too.

TRACT NO. 3—Consists of 5 acres fronting the pike. Buy this one for home or investment—you know these small tracts—

Now, if you or your friend are in search of a home and good land too, the kind of land that rewards you best look this over before hand. We find the owners of such tracts are reluctant to sell at any price. The owner has decided to locate elsewhere and we are instructed to sell. The contracts are drawn, we insert the price and terms, you do the bidding.

TERMS reasonable and announced at sale. For further particulars consult the owner on the premises, or W. E. Whittaker at Hackley, Garrard County Ky, or

For Garden Culture.

The bloodroot, common in rich woodlands where it has not been exterminated by professional root diggers for its reputed medicinal value, says the American Forestry Magazine, is in bloom with the crocus and readily adapts itself to garden culture.

Old-Time Famous Dishes.

The swan was formerly a great favorite for the table. The young cygnet is tender and good. The flesh is dark in color and tastes like goose, with a suggestion of hare. The peacock also was one of the most famous dishes at royal feasts in the Middle Ages.

Why High Noon Weddings.

All of us frequently use expressions of which we do not really know the meaning. Did you, for example, know that noon is the traditional hour for a wedding ceremony because in the olden days in England the bridegroom could not be relied upon to be sober any later in the day than this hour?

"Shin Plaster" Currency.

The name "shin plaster" was applied to all forms of currency issued by the United States government during the Civil war, but more especially to the notes for less than $1. They were and are redeemed by the government on presentation. Several million dollars of them are still outstanding and are carried on the national treasury books
as part of the debt bearing no interest.

Teaching Music to the Young.

Children are now taking in the important work in the Roman choirs as early as seven years of age, says a writer in the Etude in discussing the importance of early training in music for church purposes. They are not merely taught in the music they are to sing, but are given a very thorough drill in solfeggio, and, when necessary, at the proper time in harmony and in music in general.

Elephant's Sense of Humor.

Men close to the minds of elephants who sway back and forth hour after hour while their restless trunks roam around the hay believe that they appreciate children, and the difference between children and their elders,
more than some other inmates of tent or zoological house. They seem to have a sense of humor behind their strange little eyes when they stretch
for the peanut or go round and round in the ludicrous bearing youngsters on their swaying backs.

RECORD IN CATTLE TESTING

Federal and State Authorities Have 537,240 Head Under Supervision in Many Sections.

From time to time the bureau of animal industry publishes a "cattle montage" showing conditions along the whole battle front where the allied forces of federal and state authorities are fighting cattle tuberculosis.

The latest report indicates that since the beginning of the movement in 1917 the owners of 500,000 cattle have placed their herds under supervision.
On April 1, 1920, 25,700 herds scattered throughout the United States, with a total of 537,240 cattle, were under the cooperative supervision of the department of agriculture and state veterinarians. There were 2-250 accredited herds—60,257 cattle
known to be free from the plague.

A Typical Native Scrub, and Obstacle to Progress in Live Stock Improvement.

Over 115,000 cattle were on the waiting list to be tested as soon as the veterinarians can work with them.
Still another lot of 254,331 cattle have passed through the first stage of the test without showing any dangerous symptoms. The best optimistic estimate indicates that two-thirds of this number will conclude the test successfully, and add 170,000 cattle to the accredited column.

HAMM HAS PUREBREDS ONLY

South Dakota Farmer Asks Enrollment in "Better Sires—Better Stock" Movement.

Declaring that not only all his sires
but likewise all his female breeding animals were purebred, Charles P.
Hamm, a South Dakota farmer, applied for enrollment in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign conducted by the United States department of agriculture in cooperation with state agencies. He is a breeder of Shorthorn cattle, Percheron horses, Dor-setshire hogs, Rhode Island Red chickens, and Bourbon Red turkeys.

The better-sires movement is aimed particularly at the use of superior purebred sires, but the majority of those enrolled also keep some female stock. Mr. Hamm, however, is the first person officially listed as keeping five classes of live stock in which all the animals—both male and female—are purebred.

GRAIN FOR HOGS ON PASTURE

Full Feed is Not Economical Where Grass is Plentiful—Some Protein
Feed Favored.

Hogs on pasture require grain for greatest profit in pork production, but a full feed is not economical when pasture is plentiful and grain high-priced.
When corn alone is fed a limited ration is considerably cheaper because the forage crop takes the place of much of the grain.

Some protein feed, such as tankage or skim milk, is recommended to be fed in small quantity along with corn and pasture to pigs weighing less than 100 pounds. Pork production is usually too expensive when such feeds are given to large hogs, especially if they are on such pasture as alfalfa, clover, rape or soy beans, all of which are high in protein.

INDIANS FAVOR IMPROVEMENT

Live Stock Owned by Navajoe In New Mexico to Be Bred to Purebred
Sires in Future.

More than 100,000 head of live stock owned by Navajo Indians in New Mexico heretofore will be bred only to purebred sires. The female stock includes 30,000 cattle, 8,000 horses, 150,000 sheep, and 30,000 goats, besides smaller numbers of swine and poultry.

The Indians have signified their support of the "Better Sires—Better Stock" movement. The United States department of agriculture is cooperating in supplying the Indians with literature dealing with live-stock improvement.

ESSENTIALS FOR SWINE

The following combination should be kept before the hogs
at all times:
One hundred pounds of slaked
lime or wood ashes, four pounds air slaked lime, two pounds common salt, one pound
epsom salts.
Mix thoroughly and sprinkle
over the combination the following solution:
Two pounds copperas dissolved in one quart boiling water.

Auction Sale

400 ACRES OF THE FINEST BLUE GRASS LAND—EVER OFFERED AT PUBLIC SALE IN BOYLE COUNTY.

WE WILL SELL AT PUBLIC OUTCRY ON THE PREMISES ON

TUESDAY, AUGUST 31st, 1920

AT 10 A. M. SHARP

The finest Blue grass Farm belonging to VanSickle sisters, located five miles West of Danville just off the Danville and Perryville Pike. This farm contains 400 acres, 156 acres of it known as the Nick Harding place, the other 244 acres known as the VanSickle place.
Three hundred acres of this farm is in Blue Grass or Clover. This farm has been sub-divided and will be sold in three tracts namely:

Tract No. 1—Contains 156 acres. Improvements consist of a large two story residence with eight rooms. Good stock barn and all necessary out buildings; well watered with two fine wells, one with a wind mill attached.

Tract No. 2—Contains 144 acres; improvements consisting of a brick residence with seven rooms, and good stock barn; two never failing wells, with windmill attached to one.
This is very, very rich land as fine as the famous Gentry Lami.

Tract No. 3—Contains 100 acres of choice Blue Grass land, well watered, but has no improvements.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

This land is beautifully located, lying in one of the most famous farming sections in Kentucky. There is not an acre in this entire tract that you cannot run a tractor over. In other words, you might call it an ideal tractor farm. There has never been raised on this land a crop of tobacco although every acre of it will grow the finest tobacco that can be produced in this section. This is one of the best fenced farms in Boyle County. In fact words cannot convey or give a proper idea of this splendid land. We insist that all prospective buyers look over this farm thoroughly before day of sale, as it will stand the scrutinizing eye of the most particular. This farm is a veritable Gold Mine for a man who wants to make money out of the soil. Don't fail to look it over and he on hand and make the last bid. You will never live to regret it. We will take pleasure in showing prospective buyers over this farm. Our cars are at your disposal at any hour during the day. For further particulars write or phone I. M. Dunn and Company, Phone 529. Terms—are to be very liberal and will be made known on day of sale.

A Self Provider

By RALPH HAMILTON

Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union

They made a pathetic and sorrowful picture, Elsa Danforth and a Great Dane dog, Victor. She sat on the grass her arms around the shaggy head, rock-ing it to and fro and sobbing as if her heart would break. The intelligent animal lent his affectionate gaze up on her with wistful, troubled eyes as though striving to comprehend the grief of his fair young mistress.

"Oh, father, has it got to be?" murmured the young girl brokenly.

"Yes, father Robin wants a dog to watch his meadow patch and the archard, and he will take the very best care of Victor. He can afford to keep the animal. We can't. I'm sorry, Elsa, but with meat at forty cents a pound Victor would have to go hungers."

"Why father, what has straightened you out?" exclaimed Elsa.

"I am always short of cash till the crops come in, and John Deacon, the banker, called me on a note unexpectedly. It was a mean trick to serve an old-time client, but I managed to meet the demand. Robin will be here soon.
I'll get a chain for Victor."

"But I promised Robin to care for that old Victor as if he was my own,"
said Elsa. "I think he would never forgive me if anything happened to him."

And Danforth, bent to the shafts
and brought back a dog chain, as it clanked to the ground Victor eyed it askance.

"He seems to know we are plotting against him," chuckled his father.

"Oh, there is Mr. Robin's case" and father and daughter went towards the road to greet the visitor who was to convey Victor to his farm ten miles distant. Absorbed in pleading for the rescue of his old friend, his mistress forgot several minutes. When her father turned to hand over the infused Victor had disappeared. The light of hope came into Elsa's eyes
as she said:

"The poor fellow knows we were going to cruelly abandon him and has come into hiding."

Farmer Robin delayed a home return to the fruit. "It is this way day after tomorrow," he finally advised, "and you'd better have him chained up and ready."

Elsa was relieved at even a temporary respite for Victor. Then as the farmer's wagon rattled away she burst into an exultant and ecstatic laugh. Her father, following the direction of her glance, saw what she saw—the head of wise, cautious Victor peered from the door of the hayloft, looking this way and that for the enemy he had instinctively recognized in Farmer Robin.

Alvin Marsh was the owner of Victor and was the accepted lover of Elsa Danforth. A month previous they had postponed their intended marriage, while he went to the far South on account of some legal wrangle as to some property his uncle had left him. His settlement meant a good deal to the engaged pair, for Alvin had counted on trading it for a little home. He had left Victor in charge of Elsa. Sparse crops necessitated strict economy with her father. Victor was a big eater and choice as to the kind of food he ate and his keep really meant a charge the Danforths could not very well meet.

The intelligent animal tricked about Elsa as if like herself appreciating the postponement of his banishment. An hour before dusk he disappeared in the direction of the town. Elsa was looking for him quite anxiously on hour later, when he reappeared carrying between his jaws a chain bone
with fresh raw meat adhering to it.
He looked up into Elsa's face as if delecting that he had realized that he was a burden on the family and would not tax their slender supply as long as there were meat shops in the town.

The next day, twice during his passing hours Victor disappeared and reappeared with a very fair meat supply.
What with this and some bread and milk he seemed fed comfortably and Mr. Danforth said:

"You feel so bad about parting with Victor, Elsa, that we'll put Robin off as long as the animal can supply the bulk of his own provender. 'Oh!
heard the news? Some sharp fellows steaked a lot of money and securities from Deacon's office today while he was away at lunch.'"

In that same circumstance Victor played a feigned part. He of course was never able to put it in words, but it was figured out afterwards by imaginative human minds. Hambling about the morning after the robbery, Victor had come upon the two men in the woods who had committed the crime. They were discussing a meal of bread and ham, and had placed beside them a wicker holding some money and a package containing over fifty Liberty bonds they had secured at the Deacon office. The latter was done up in newspaper that had come in contact with that holding the greasy ham.
Victor scented sure food within,
snatched up the package between his teeth and half an hour later was tearing it open in the home yard when Elsa discovered its contents.

It was only natural that John Devon should pay a reward for the receiving of the bulk of his stolen possessions. Victor was not sent away,
the lack of money was filled over.
Alvin Marsh returned successful in his mission, and happiness and plenty smiled upon the happy group, including clever, loyal Victor.
